

New Faculty Institute

“Being an Advocate of Student Success!”

About the Institute:

While the faculty contract requires orientation, the Office of Professional Development’s New Faculty Institute (NFI) goes beyond the basic orientation to provide a high-quality, enriching and interactive institute for all participants.

- This 10-month program (August to May) features a unique blend of basic faculty orientation with high-level discussions and action-projects regarding student success.
- New, tenure-track faculty members are empowered to successfully serve the ELAC student body.

Institute Topics:

- The college organizational structure.
- Critical campus support services provided for both students and faculty.
- Key support personnel.
- College policies and procedures.
- Curriculum and academic policy oversight.
- Pedagogy in higher education.

Encourage your new faculty to participate today!
